Frank Lloyd Wright's first employee, Marion Mahony Griffin, went on to become the world's first officially licensed female architect. With that kind of legacy to follow, the Marion plan is sure to turn heads with tons of options to personalize this open concept. This home comes with 'his and her' walk-in closets, a drop zone as you enter from the garage, and a large dining room with a separate nook. You can make this home pop even more with a huge owner's shower, optional casita, and optional fireplace at the covered patio to enjoy those beautiful New Mexico sunsets.
